Red Cross

- More than 58,000 Californians are under evacuation orders as the state's massive wildfires continue to spread.
- According to scientists, climate change has made the region warmer and drier over the past 30 years, leading to more destructive and longer-lasting wildfires.
- Wildfires this year have already outpaced what we experienced in 2020 — some 860,000 more acres of land have burned than at the same time last year.
- The American Red Cross has been helping in California since June, and we will continue to support people whose lives have been upended by these relentless fires for as long as help is needed.
- Hundreds of Red Cross volunteers are helping those who have been evacuated find a safe place to stay, food to eat and emotional support during this challenging time.
- The threat isn't over. Experts say there could be an above normal threat of wildfires through September.
- It's critical that those in the path of wildfires listen to the advice of local authorities and evacuate immediately if asked to do so.

California Energy Commission

- CA Fuel Status:
 - CEC staff have been in communication with NV Energy Office.
 - Weekly fuels watch report posted.
(https://ww2.energy.ca.gov/almanac/petroleum_data/fuels_watch/index cms.html).
 - Chevron understands the importance of prioritizing diesel for emergency response and wants us (working in coordination with our partners) to let them know if there are any specific fuel vendors that are unable to fill their emergency fuel deliveries due to the contaminated diesel fuel tank. We are not aware of any requests or supply constraints at this time.
 - California Energy Commission (CEC) staff continue refinery outreach and coordination.
 - CEC staff supporting Caldor Fire advanced planning activities
- Natural Gas:
 - Concerning the El Paso Natural Gas (EPNG) pipeline Force Majeure and its effect on California, the CEC is monitoring the situation closely. EPNG's available delivery capacity is still higher than what the Ehrenburg receipt point can take away from the junction, so there is no impact on gas delivery volumes to California currently. Additionally, the amount of scheduled gas that will ultimately be consumed in California is still far under the total available capacity. Barring another unforeseen and/or widespread weather event like the February 2021 polar vortex, this current pipeline outage on Line 2000 in Arizona will not affect California gas supply.
 - El Paso Natural Gas (EPNG)/SoCalGas Curtailment Watch update: Staff is closely monitoring conditions in Southern California and the impact of the Coolidge rupture on EPNG's southern mainline. That and other conditions on EPNG are leading to slightly lower deliveries at Ehrenberg than shippers are requesting (see graph below). We believe the curtailment watch issued by SoCalGas is aimed at alerting its Southern System shippers to pay close attention to their nominations and actual usage given

CA-ESF 10: Hazardous Materials

Air Quality Index Map (airnow.gov) – California Environmental Protection Agency (Cal EPA) as of August 31, 2021, at 0600 Hours:

- CARB continues to support affected air districts and air quality agencies. A total of 33 portable air monitors are currently deployed (a new monitor was deployed yesterday in the community of Tahoma, CA, in El Dorado county) throughout the state to support local air quality agencies and is visiting their equipment storage caches in Redding, Mariposa, Ukiah, Santa Barbara and Fresno to manage inventories and resupply monitors and supplies. CARB will continue to develop plans and schedule air-monitoring deployments as needs and resources are identified. CARB along with affected air districts, USEPA and US Forest Service continue to hold daily meteorology and air monitoring coordination calls to predict emissions and plume movement, discuss air quality forecasts, review active and pending requests for monitoring support and provide operational updates on the air quality monitoring response.
- Based on yesterday's PM2.5 Air Quality Index (AQI) many communities in the following Northern California counties experienced air quality in the unhealthy to very unhealthy category: Lassen, Plumas, Sierra, Nevada, Placer, El Dorado, Amador, Alpine, Calaveras, Tuolumne, Mono and Siskiyou. Today's forecast predicts similar air quality in many locations with Placer, El Dorado, Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Tuolumne, Mono and Siskiyou counties expected to continue to have AQI in the very unhealthy category.
- The Sacramento Valley, Bay Area, Southern California, and foothill and mountain communities in the southern Sierra Nevada mountains are expected to receive similar air quality today as yesterday, with AQI predicted to be in the moderate to unhealthy for sensitive groups
